Cranberry Chutney

This chutney is something you put a sandwich on, instead of the other way around.

Tart. Crunch of green apple. Zippy rumor of horseradish. Something to think about from the walnuts. No sandwich required, some folks eat this with a spoon.

We've been bogged with requests for this recipe, so here she be.

1 Can	Whole Berry Cranberry Sauce
1/2 Cup	Green Apple (diced)
1/8 Cup	Red Onion (minced)
1/8 Cup	Walnuts (chopped)
1 TBSP	Horseradish
1 Tsp	Lemon Juice
1 TBSP	Mayonnaise
To Taste	Salt & Pepper

The Doing of the Thing

Plop the cranberry sauce in a bowl.

Smooch it up.

Dice the apple, onion and walnuts pretty fine.

Add those and the horseradish, squirt in the citrus.

Salt, pepper.

Stir it up real good and artfully arrange ever-so-thin slices of the leftover apple around the edges.

Shazam. Chutney-a-go-go.
